

Michael Chang is Senior Counsel at Warner Bros. Studios, one of the world's largest producers of film and television entertainment. He oversees business and legal affairs at the Studio's consumer products business group in China, Japan, and the greater Asia Pacific Region. Michael has over a decade of broad experience with the federal judiciary, where he clerked for a U.S. District Judge; international law firms; and both tech start-ups and premium global brands, being based in Asia and North America. He specializes in IP development, licensing and enforcement, and oversees a geographically-dispersed team of legal professionals. He is a graduate of UCLA School of Law, where he was an Articles Editor on the UCLA Law Review, and is fluent in Mandarin Chinese and Japanese.