BRAZOS HALL

Brazos Hall is a turn-of-the-century warehouse building converted from a 1900's grain mill into an elegant mixed-use event venue. Brazos Hall is a venue unlike any other in the heart of downtown and the home of many iconic events in Austin.

If you aren't dancing the night away downstairs with Party Machine, head upstairs to enjoy the rooftop deck featuring the laid back, Americana sounds of Sun Valley Station while taking in the downtown vibe and amazing Austin views.

PARTY MACHINE

Party Machine is an energetic party band that covers our favorite songs from the classics to today's hits. Whether you are a dancer or not, this unique dance band will keep you moving with non-stop music, lights and motion from the moment they hit the stage.

Party Machine has played at high-profile private events around the metroplex and the Southwest, performing for the Frisco Mayor's Ball, Frito Lay, Dallas National Insurance, the Cities of Trophy Club and Lantana, the Grant Halliburton Foundation, Great Wolf Lodge, and Delta Dallas. Party Machine recently played two huge outdoor Independence Day festivals: The Addison Kaboomtown fireworks celebration as well as the Fort Worth Fourth.

SUN VALLEY STATION

Sun Valley Station is a five-piece Americana & Rock n' Roll band based in Fort Worth, TX, comprised of veterans of the Austin, Texas and Oklahoma music scenes. Though the band is in its nascent stage, Sun Valley Station is already garnering music industry buzz because of their extensive, individual backgrounds. Their soon-to-be-released debut song "Bullets", as well as other songs, have already received attention as they circulate through the music scene. Songwriter and lead singer, Jeff Hobbs, acts as frontman while also playing guitar and piano. Twin lead guitarists Nick Santa Maria and Issac Stalling accentuate Hobbs' unique songwriting style by adding their jazz, blues and rock and roll influences to the group. Rounding out the rhythm section are bassist and longtime music scene staple, Lucas Copeland, a.k.a Honky Tonk Red, and drummer Thomas Young, of The Damn Quails. With a forthcoming album, music video, and tour planned, including festival dates throughout the country, Sun Valley Station is poised to make an immediate impact in the local and regional music scene, and beyond.
