Dear ACC NCR Members and Sponsors:

On behalf of the Board of Directors of the ACC National Capital Region Chapter it is my pleasure to provide you with this 2022 Chapter Directory. We hope this will be a useful resource as you engage with the Chapter and our in-house community.

Now in its 42nd year, ACC NCR has developed into a strong, vibrant organization, with nearly 2,500 members across Virginia, DC, and nearby Maryland. We offer more than 70 CLE programs each year that address critical topics of interest to in-house attorneys, as well as many other programs and events where you can grow professionally and build new relationships. All of this is made possible by our more than 200 volunteers, 50 sponsors, and staff members.

ACC NCR members have a history of working to improve the communities in which we live and work. Last year the Chapter launched the ACC NCR Racial & Social Justice Challenge. This year, the Chapter recommits to that work by pushing for increased action and measurable results. To guide our efforts, the Chapter developed a DEI Strategic Plan with goals we will begin the work of achieving in 2022. As part of that plan, we will continue to offer programs, materials, and other educational and empowering help you can use to expand your efforts. I personally urge each of you who hasn't to:

- expand your diversity, equity, and inclusion efforts,
- fight for racial and social justice within your communities, and
- accept the ACC NCR Racial & Social Justice Challenge by signing up: https://bit.ly/ACCNCR_RSJC.

Our Chapter community has remained strong during these challenging times and we saw record-setting attendance in many of our CLE programs in 2021. As it becomes safer to do so, we look forward to returning to hosting online and in-person events. We will also focus on connecting members with resources and opportunities to ensure members are getting the most out of their membership while being more intentional about promoting diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Lastly, we are excited to continue to invite our sponsors to join with us in improving DEI in the legal profession and serving our communities.

I encourage you to offer ideas and feedback on how we can better serve you and the in-house community by reaching out to me or any of our officers or committee leaders, listed on pages 3-21. And, of course, our great staff is always ready to help in any way possible.

Best regards,

Mary Chapin

CORPORATE SCHOLARS PROGRAM

The mission of ACC NCR's Corporate Scholars Program is to give students from law schools in our service area an introduction to in-house practice, a career option about which they might know little, and to develop a diversity pipeline of future in-house counsel. The definition of diversity for the program is very broad, encompassing not only gender, race, and ethnicity, but also socioeconomic background and the student's education and career path. The goal is to provide opportunities for populations within law schools that may lack access to or knowledge about in-house practice. Since its creation in 2004, the Corporate Scholars Program has placed more than 190 students in summer internships with member companies and organizations. We regularly participate on panels and at career fairs organized by the law schools in our area to provide information about in-house careers.

SMALL LAW DEPARTMENT COMMITTEE

The Small Law Department Committee is designed for members who either (a) practice in, or are concerned with issues relating to, small law departments or (b) practice in larger departments either as a legal “generalist” or at a remote location with few lawyers. (There is no specific size for a “small department,” but one to five attorneys is a good guide.) Members may be at any level in the department; this group is not restricted to CLOs. The group may also be of interest to members who are thinking of transitioning to a small department. The group’s meetings are designed to allow participants to share their questions and approaches to issues of common interest in ensuring that the small law department meets the needs of the organization.

AFFINITY GROUPS

In 2021, the ACC NCR DEI Allies & Advocates Subcommittee expanded the chapter's affinity groups from two to five and, now, is eager to support the formation of more groups. As the volunteer leaders listed below (after the groups they lead) can attest, the process to invite members to connect is simple! If you have ever wanted to meet with members with shared characteristics or circumstances, we invite you to host an online or in-person coffee meet-up, roundtable, or happy hour. To express interest in starting an affinity group, please email Allies & Advocates Subcommittee Co-Chairs Elizabeth Jones and Tina Rao.

HISTORY

- The Washington Metropolitan Area Corporate Counsel Association ("WMAACCA") was founded in 1980 to "provide a forum for discussion of the concerns of corporate legal counsel in the Washington, D.C., metropolitan area." We were one of the first organizations of corporate staff attorneys in the United States.
- ACC was founded in 1982 by a group of general counsel who believed that in-house counsel needed their own organization focused exclusively on in-house issues and networks.
- WMAACCA affiliated with ACC in late 1983 as the Washington Metro Area chapter.
- In 2006, WMAACCA broadened its service area from Washington, D.C. and the surrounding Virginia and Maryland suburbs, to include all ACC members throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia.
- In January 2015, WMAACCA became the ACC National Capital Region chapter, in order to better describe the area it serves and more closely identify with ACC and other chapters.

Members of ACC enjoy a number of valuable benefits, including:

- In-person and online networking opportunities through chapters and networks (see <https://www.acc.com/chapters/networks/networks>), plus blogs, Member-to-Member Community (including eGroups) and customizable member profiles. The networking resources also include an online membership directory that is searchable by name, title, company name, law school, city, state, chapter, committee, or any combination. In sum, you get a virtual rolodex of in-house attorneys at your disposal.
- A subscription to the award-winning ACC Docket, a monthly journal featuring articles written by corporate counsel on issues you face daily.
- Numerous continuing education opportunities, such as online courses, webcasts, and other educational events.
- A daily newsfeed with updates on a range of legal topics, completely customizable by topic and jurisdiction.
- Access to the ACC In-house Jobline, the premier electronic employment resource for in-house jobseekers and employers; and the ability to maintain your membership at reduced cost should you lose your in-house position.
- Access to a comprehensive library of legal and law-department management resources including sample forms and policies, checklists, articles, and surveys, including:
 - There are more than 100 downloadable InfoPaks that include articles, sample forms and policies, and case law on an array of topics, such as conflicts and waivers, records retention, outside counsel management and technology. Quick Counsel research guides provide brief but accurate overviews of timely in-house topics. Forms and Policies feature sample contract clauses, memoranda, and policies. Top Ten resources focus on a key issue and provide a list of tips to help you better understand the matter at hand. And Leading Practice Profiles share the knowledge and experience of your peers across a variety of industries and legal departments.
- ACC Contracts Portal – The Contract Advisor (powered by KM Standards) provides access to model contracts, thousands of sample clauses, and allows you to run draft language through a benchmark tool to identify any missing or uncommon clauses, download model forms and customize your contracts. In addition, it has a library of valuable resources on negotiations.
- ACC Compliance Training Portal – You can find a variety of resources specifically designed to help you meet your internal compliance and ethics training needs.
- Chief Legal Officer resources that provide information on the executive, legal and department management roles of today's CLO.
- ACC's Monthly Member Update, an e-newsletter that highlights valuable resources to help you do your job better, faster, and more cost-effectively, such as ACC Docket features, upcoming educational programs, and webcasts.
- A Member Rewards Program, as well as Discounts and direct access to useful litigation and matter management tools and resources through the ACC Alliance, a partnership with top-tier legal and business service providers.
- The highlight of the year is the ACC Annual Meeting, which will be held in Las Vegas, NV, and will run October 23-26, 2022. The meeting will offer corporate practitioners more than 100 sessions to choose from. Programming tracks - developed by in-house counsel for in-house counsel - will provide a wide range of legal and management topics including intellectual property, litigation, labor, and employment, corporate and securities, technology, and leadership and management skills.
