16TH ANNUAL Ethics Day FOR IN-HOUSE COUNSEL

HOW MANY HATS CAN YOU REASONABLY WEAR

9:00 AM - 10:00 AM

FOLEY & LARDNER LLP

Ethical considerations and dilemmas commonly faced by in-house counsel, including when serving in a legal capacity vs. business capacity, the scope and nature of privilege under this dual role, identifying your client and dual representations, and handling conflicts checks and the disclosure of information.

SPEAKERS:

Tammy Westerberg, Partner, Foley & Lardner
Diane Hazel, Partner, Foley & Lardner
Melanie Margolin, Chief Legal Officer, Thumbtack

IN-HOUSE COUNSEL ETHICAL CONUNDRUM AND PITFALLS FOR THE UNWARY: ETHICS & INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

10:00 AM - 11:00 AM

Ethical obligations of attorneys are constantly evolving, and violation of those ethical obligations can have draconian consequences. Ethical obligations become particularly complex in the in-house environment, where the attorney-client relationship becomes blurred. This presentation focuses on key ethical issues impacting in-house attorneys and includes evaluation of ethical obligations in fictionalized scenarios.

SPEAKER:

Rich Christiansen, Partner, Kilpatrick Townsend Wade Kirshy, Director, Business Unit & IP Counsel, Applied Materials, Inc.

ETHICAL ISSUES IN APPEALS

11:15 AM - 12:15 PM

// Holland & Hart

Filing and prosecuting an appeal comes with its own special set of ethical considerations. What kinds of conflicts can arise with outside trial counsel? Can my organization take a contradictory position at the appellate stage? And how likely am I to win an appeal, anyway? In this session, we will discuss these questions and offer a few real-life examples of appeals gone wrong—and how to avoid making the same mistakes.

SPEAKERS:

Christopher Jackson, Partner, Holland & Hart Andrew Kelley, Associate General Counsel & Senior Director, Commercial Litigation, DaVita Kidney Care

ETHICS YOU CAN'T OVERLOOK: TOPICS THAT DON'T GET ENOUGH ATTENTION BECAUSE THEY DON'T FILL A FULL HOUR

12:30 PM - 1:30 PM

PERKINSCOIE

COUNSEL TO GREAT COMPANIES

A grab bag of important ethical topics that don't often get their due in CLE presentations because no one has a full hour of material on them. We will explore an assortment of issues, including:

- Duty of competence
- Ensuring adequate staffing and resources
- · Licensure state requirements
- Unauthorized practice of law
- Investigation and trial publicity
- Corporate counsel as supervisor

SPEAKERS:

Lindsey Dunn, Counsel, Perkins Coie LLP
Dan Graham, Counsel, Perkins Coie LLP
Henry Hauser, Counsel, Perkins Coie LLP
Michael Havlik, Senior Counsel, Guild Education

ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE AND ETHICS: WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW AND WHAT YOU SHOULD BE THINKING ABOUT

1:30 PM - 2:30 PM

SHOOK HARDY & BACON

The current use and future promise of artificial intelligence (AI) for our businesses and clients are undeniable. There is simply no doubt that AI can create efficiencies and lead to better outcomes, but its use is not without risk. The key to appropriate use of the technology is "responsible AI," which involves an analysis of the ethical issues in using technology to aid human decision-making, collecting vast amounts of personal data, and being transparent about how the technology works and its intended purpose. This session will explore these concerns through hypothetical use cases from not only a practical perspective as counselors helping our clients navigate the current regulatory environment with associated risks of litigation, but also from the point of view of our ethical obligations as attorneys.

SPEAKERS:

Lindsey Schultz, Senior Managing Counsel, Head of Privacy Framework, Policy & Governance, Visa, Global Privacy Office

Jeff Williams, Head of Legal & Compliance, EVIO Dan Rohner, Partner, Shook Hardy & Bacon Camila Tobón, Partner, Shook Hardy & Bacon Liz Hutchinson, Associate, Shook Hardy & Bacon

ETHICAL CONSIDERATIONS FOR LAWYERS WORKING REMOTELY

2:45 PM - 3:45 PM

Littler

Post-COVID, the traditional office job -- at least as we have understood it -- either ceases to exist or dramatically changes. In this session, Littler attorneys will discuss best practices, important considerations and ethical issues involved with remote work.

- General considerations when working remotely
- · ABA rules for consideration; including
 - · competence,
 - · diligence & communication,
 - · confidentiality,
 - and supervision
- State law issues
- Issue-spotting
- · And civility above all

SPEAKERS:

Al McLaughlin, Office Managing Shareholder, Littler

Bradley Crowell, Associate, Littler
