

Tim Brown joined Venerable Holdings, Inc. in June 2018 as the Executive Vice President, Chief Legal Officer, and Corporate Secretary. He leads the Law and Compliance Departments and is responsible for a range of areas including M&A, corporate governance, securities, regulatory law, compliance, litigation, commercial contracting, intellectual property, and government affairs. In 2023, he assumed the additional role of President of Venerable Investment Advisers where he has P&L responsibility for the investment adviser business line.

Previously, Mr. Brown was Vice President and Chief Counsel for Voya Financial, Inc., a Fortune 500 financial services company. During his time at Voya, Mr. Brown served as M&A, Corporate Transactions, and Regulatory Counsel. As a member of the leadership team, he took the company public in 2013 and played a pivotal role in driving market realignment and margin expansion initiatives in Latin America. He also led successful industry efforts to pass legislation to further strategic business priorities.

Mr. Brown started his legal career as a Corporate and Securities attorney with King & Spalding, LLP before moving to Greenberg Traurig, LLP. He is currently a member of the board of trustees of Venerable Variable Insurance Trust, the board of directors of the Federation of Iowa Insurers and a board member of the Minority Corporate Counsel Association's N-Gen Advisory Board. He is also the past Vice Chairman of the Finance Committee for the Hands on Atlanta board of directors.

A native of Nashville, TN, Mr. Brown earned a B.S. in Mechanical Engineering from Tennessee State University, cum laude, a J.D. from the University of Michigan Law School, and completed the Advanced Management Program at Harvard Business School.
